

Have Your Say in a Major New Inquiry into Family Life

National charity 4Children has launched a major new inquiry into family life in the UK. Chaired by Esther Rantzen CBE, The Family Commission aims to explore and improve understanding of the reality of family life today.

The Family Commission has been launched in recognition of the fact that family circumstances have a dramatic impact on a child's ability to meet their full potential later in life.

The Commission will be looking at a variety of issues that affect families and asking questions such as:

1. What are the greatest opportunities / challenges for families in the UK today?
2. What support do families need in order to reach their potential?
3. How can we build positive family involvement / interaction across communities and generations?
4. How should we respond to families who struggle to cope with health, relationships, employment or tight finances?
5. What should the role of Government, communities

Have your say >>

Fill out the online survey

Download The Family Commission call for evidence leaflet >>

and employers be in supporting families?

The Family Commission is inviting you to input your views into a national consultation. We very much welcome your input and hope that you are able to take five minutes to let us know your thoughts.

Please click here for your opportunity to help us to shape the future for family policy! You can also keep up to date with The Family Commission and join the debate via the blog.

Mailing address:

Events
4Children
City Reach
5 Greenwich
View Place
London E14
9NN

Telephone:

020 7522 6970

Copyright © 2009 4Children

Unless expressly stated otherwise, the contents of this email represents only the views of the sender, as expressed only to the intended recipient. Recipients should not forward it to a third party without satisfying themselves that the consent of the sender is either unnecessary or unlikely to be withheld. The contents do not commit 4Children to any course of action and, in particular, are not intended to impose any legal obligation upon 4Children.