These innovative one-day training courses are based on the popular Participation Works 'How To' guides. Training will be practical, accessible and informative, and provide participants with a range of resources to implement the training in their own organisations. Book your place now as numbers are strictly limited.

Who should attend?

- Anyone with an interest in or currently involved in participation work with young people.

Participants will:

- Develop their knowledge in this specific area of participation.
- Discover ideas and exercises to use with children and young people in their own organisations.
- Understand how to incorporate the training in their work.

Cost: £150
